*Excerpt of pertinent information : 1. During early January 1950, General Nicolae Radescu, President of the Rumanian National Committee, wrote Colonel Daniel Ivanovici, a former Rumanian officer residing in Paris, that although he had obtained satisfactory results from his audience with King Mihai in Florence, the "Royal camarilla," together with Alexander Cretianu and Constantin Visoianu, had ruined everything. Radescu declared that he was determined not to surrender and would bring matters to a head since he was supported by "American friends."

2. General Radescu accused the National Peasant Party of distorting a refugee-aid plan prepared by certain officers and requested Colonel Ivanovici to make this fact known to Rumanian officers, informing them that a "serious situation could develop in the near future." Colonel Ivanovici thereupon informed Rumanian officers that a break-up of the National Committee could occur and the place of each officer was with General Radescu. Ivanovici likewise stated that King Mihai, who is under the nefarious influence of two persons, would suffer the consequences.

This is all the pertinent information on subject in this document.
